How the project born?

- We realize that projects often end their benefits with the termination of the project itself
- We want to discover new developing model and share the model during a complementary work
- More than working in a vertical project, we thought it appropriate to dedicate ourselves to a methodological phase, combined with research work on good practices

What is the project?

- The definition of the project took place after these reflections.
- Taking a cue from Goldoni's work that in addition to defining and experimenting a methodology we would like to create projects with the same methodology.
- GOLDONI goes from the canvas and stereotyped characters to the script where the naturalness and importance of the actor are fundamental (before there were masks!)
- Our project aims to identify good practices, think about them with an innovative methodology (in a shared way "in the cloud") and with the methodology to create innovative projects

Different Pillar in «recovery plan»

- The project will focus on:
- 1- the improvement of the management of natural and environmental resources (pillar circular economy)
- 2- the inclusion of local production chains in strategic networks (digital transformation)
- These two themes constitute the topics at the base of the two projects to be carried out within WP6, experimenting the new methodological model of the GoS project.
- These 2 more projects will have to be implemented with additional funds, giving sustainability to the issue.

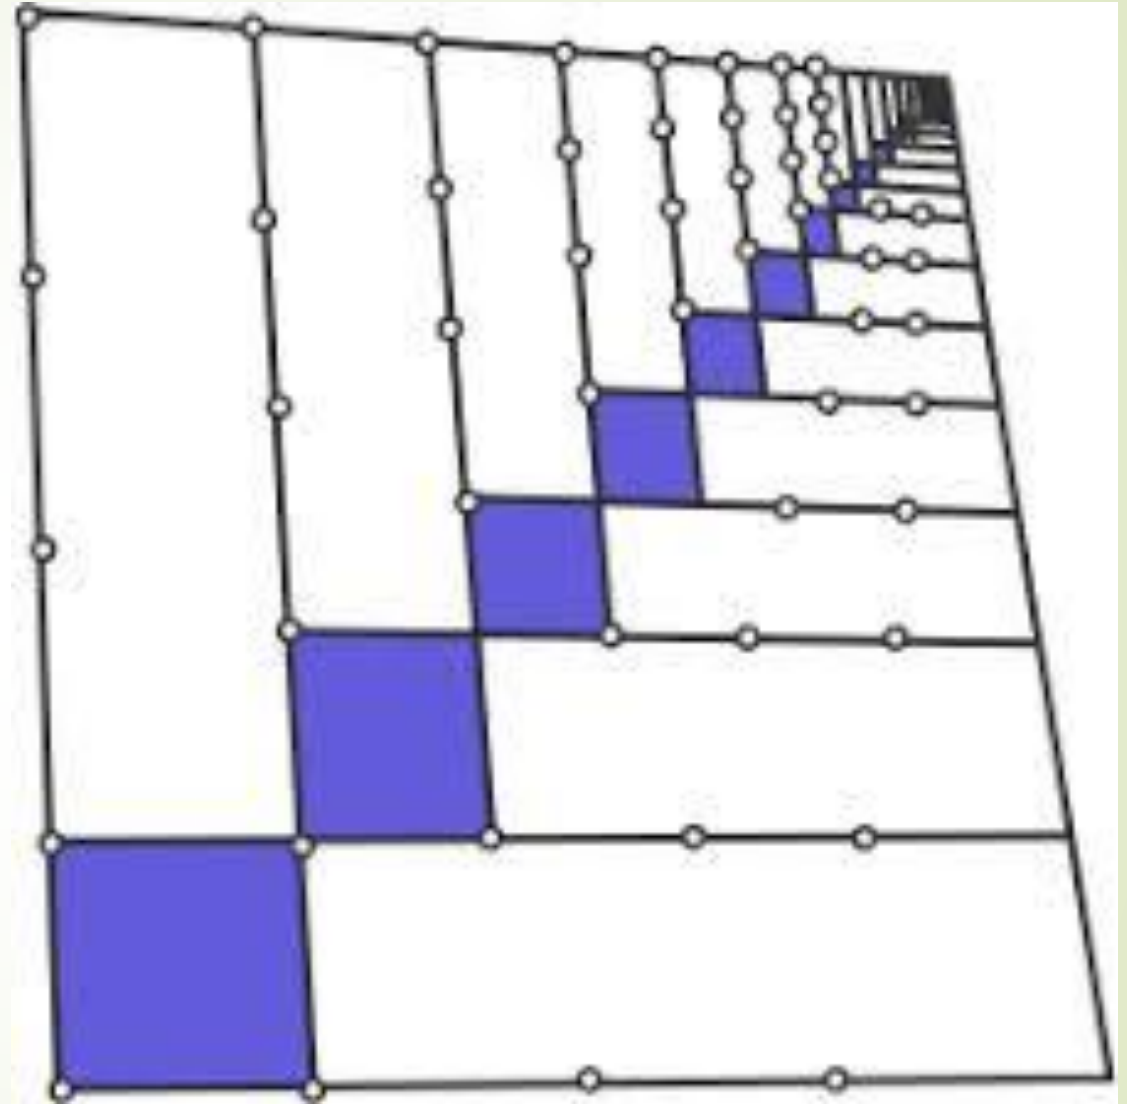

Why the project is born

- Often the indications of the Project are lost as well as the partners who participate and then often get lost.
- One goal is to systematize and standardize a partnership creation methodology as a tool that everyone can use and that can be made available to the entire LAG strategy. For example, the tool must tell us how and when a partner was involved and how he worked. A CONTAINER of information with a customer experience that can be shared among all partners. Creating a shared platform is also part of this process. Any partner who intervenes in the future will be able to add their own partners.

Who Will be in the project

- We start from the 4 partners who multiply in a geometric way because all the new projects will bring so many partners that. Once included, the users of the service will multiply.

WP3 - Database creation

Wp Lead – Serre Calabresi

- On the platform will be created a database (archive): this database will be used to register all the main information about partners and partnership.
- All the partners and associates of the GoS project will have to agree during the Kick-off the strategic information to be uploaded regarding their respective partners, the information storage and collection model. Whenever they find themselves participating in a new project, it will be the responsibility of the GoS project partners to update the database and extend its use to future partners, in order to make the database a strategic tool that feeds itself over time.
